Welcome to Disha Arogya Dham[®]Inc. Modern Science Validating Ancient Medicine

CEO of DAD Ayurveda ® Inc. Pankaj Rohilla, MD (Ayurveda), ND

Note: If you suffer from an illness, you should consult with a physician before taking any herbs, vitamins, minerals, or enzymes. Even at the peak of health, it is best to consult a qualified practitioner before taking any dietary supplement. The Story of DAD Ayurveda From The CEO Upon from in 2009, became one of the first Ayurvedic and Naturopathic physicians in the India. I had a dream to create a company that would provide physicians with the best and highest quality in Ayurvedic herbs and supplements.

We travelled all over India visiting the country's primary manufacturers of Ayurvedic medicine. But when the products we purchased were analyzed back in the, they were declared unsafe for human consumption. We had to dump the entire products.

To assure the highest quality, we decided to grow our own herbs and produce extracts from these herbs in our own facility. It has been a long and sometimes difficult road from that decision to where we are today, but I am glad we followed our dream.

Staying true to that commitment, DAD Ayurveda Inc.® has offered the highest quality Ayurvedic formulations available to physicians for over 10 years. In 2009, we proudly created DADVED® to extend that same quality to consumers.

Sincerely, Parkent

DAD Ayurveda, MD (Ayurveda), ND CEO

Director of DAD Ayurveda® Inc. Rajni Rohilla (DAD Ayurveda), ND

Note: If you suffer from an illness, you should consult with a physician before taking any herbs, vitamins, minerals, or enzymes. Even at the peak of health, it is best to consult a qualified practitioner before taking any dietary supplement.

DAD Ayurveda was established in 2009 to share its knowledge of Ayurveda and to showcase the incredible healing power of traditional and natural medicine.

we they first started their Ayurvedic and Naturopathic practices, they were shocked at how difficult it was to find quality products. They looked everywhere; even trying products from the most reputable sources they could locate in their native, but they soon discovered that even those products were too contaminated to satisfy the measure requirements. Knowing how critical having quality products was to the health of their patients, the Pankaj Rohilla decided that the only way to ensure they were getting the pure ingredients they needed, was to grow their own herbs.

The returned to with a plan: buy their own farms where they could oversee every crucial step of each plant's life cycle, from the planting of a tiny seed to the harvesting of mature herbs ready to be prepared and made into supplements. Since then, DAD herbs have been grown in the pristine Himachal Pradesh region of the Himalayas, where indigenous plants have been used in centuries of Ayurvedic tradition.

Providing uncontaminated unadulterated, herbal products is the founding principle of our company. We have full knowledge of, and confidence in the contents of our herbal products. That is just one of the many reasons that DAD is a name that represents quality and purity; for the sake of our customers and our own families.

Our Commitment

DAD Ayurveda joins the ancient principles of Ayurvedic medicine with the latest scientific technology to provide the highest quality herbal supplements available. Ayurveda literally means "the science of life," and DAD Ayurveda was founded by Ayurvedic and Naturopathic physicians who believe in healthy living in body, mind, and spirit.

We also believe that maintaining the highest quality-control standards in the herbal supplement industry goes hand in hand with that commitment. DAD Ayurveda has maintained these standards since it was founded and we are committed to continuing that tradition as we meet the needs of our customers in the years to come.

Our Green Commitment

1. Opening our herb cultivation center will help bring Uttarakhand, Bageshwar and its surrounding areas.

Supporting Our Community

On January 2020, completed a facility in India on its farms and surrounding communities. Located in the Bageshwar region of Uttarakhand, the plant will help bring herbs from Uttarakhand and its surrounding region, an area that has little environmental impact.

Tribal people of the region of India have wild (harvested) native species of plants for generations. However, tribal traditions dependent on the growth of wild plants can no longer support the growing demand for these precious herbs. Immediately, DAD recognized the importance of sharing sustainable farming methods with the people of Himachal, Uttarakhand, Maharashtra, Chhattisgarh, Madhya Pardesh, Rajasthan, Gujarat; Ensuring long-term availability of these beneficial plants and helping to protect unique way of life.

Throughout DAD history, our sustainability efforts and our commitment to the people of India have won recognition from the Indian government; bringing us awards for providing outstanding services to society, technological innovation, and product excellence, as well as recognition of commendable entrepreneurship.

DAD continues its commitment to its producers, community and customers, including better-market-wage jobs, education about permanent harvesting, free community clinics for those unable to pay, those areas Has clean water facilities that were not there before, and many other services; Educational opportunities for tribal communities of the region are included.

Manufacturing Standards

DAD Ayurveda products are used in ingredients grown on our farms and processed in our wholly owned, state-of-the-art plant. The facility is ISO and GMP certified and runs under the supervision of Mr. Pankaj Rohilla. All production is overseen by our team of biotechnologists and doctors. Manufacturing temperature, humidity and dust are controlled in rooms to prevent cross-contamination and product spoilage.

Additionally, each piece of equipment is sterilized individually before each production run. All these measures are to ensure that DAD provides a product that is fresh, natural, sanitary and free from any kind of adulteration.

Quality Matters

Quality Matters

All of our herbs are grown and harvested to the highest quality specifications exclusively for DAD. Close attention is paid to the health and development of each plant in every aspect, including the overall condition of the plant, the size of the root, and the timing of harvesting to ensure optimal potency and quality.

In-house manufacturing, laboratory testing and heavy-metal testing of all herbs grown and grown in Uttarakhand, Himachal Pradesh, confirm that the region, which is the natural habitat of most Ayurvedic herbs, is of the highest quality. There is a herbaceous area. -Produces herbs. These herbs are suitable for use as a supplement to enhance good health according to the 5,000-year-old Ayurvedic tradition.

Stringent quality control is performed at DAD laboratories by our team of scientists using the classical technologies. DAD Ayurveda - extraction methods use state-of-the-art technology to obtain maximum levels of active principles, as well as full-spectrum extracts, after which the extracts are natural-dried.

As the extracts are concentrated, they go through another inspection for heavy metals and further microbiological testing. Finally, each batch is hygienically packed and samples are tagged and kept for future reference. Additional testing by third parties is performed on DAD formulations, ensuring that each product meets DAD own high standards of excellence.

Learning Your Genomic Makeup (Prakriti)

Body type is a unique concept in Ayurvedic tradition, based on the theory of the five elementals. Determining your body type allows you to learn how to achieve balance in your mind, body, and spirit. This can be a vital tool allowing you to achieve and maintain optimal health. You will find that when you are functioning at optimal levels you benefit not only yourself, but also the world around you. You affect the people and places around you in a positive way. Everything that you are a part of becomes healthier. All of your relationships become healthier; your family becomes healthier, even your community will feel the benefits. Indeed, your well-being has a great effect on everything and everyone you touch, not just your friends, family, and community, but also your state, nation, continent, world, and even the universe, on all levels, because you are an inseparable part of all things.

In individuals, the five elements manifest themselves as the Tridosha. Translated from Sanskrit, Dosha means "protective." The Tridosha are the three humors, or metabolic forces that make up the mind and body. They are called vata, pitta, and kapha.

At the time of conception, permutations of vata, pitta, and kapha determine the constitution of the new individual. These three metabolic forces control all biological, psychological, and physio-pathological functions of the body, mind, and consciousness. Each one has subtle properties. These forces determine personality traits and physiological structure. These basic traits are also affected by gender and other important factors such as diet, lifestyle, behavior, emotions, seasons, and so on.

The unique individual constitution results in different natural urges and individual tastes in food, flavor, and temperature. The doshas govern the maintenance and promotion of bodily tissues and the elimination of waste products. They are also responsible for psychological phenomena, including emotions of fear, anger, and greed as well as the highest order of emotions: understanding, compassion, and love.

Functions of the Tridosha:

Maintaining balance within the dosha is necessary for optimal health. The doshas increase by association with similar properties and are diminished by the opposite ones. For example, vata is dry, light, and cold; so any food, lifestyle, or behavior that increases these qualities will increase the presence of vata within the body. Conversely, oily, heavy, or hot factors will decrease vata influence.

Together, the doshas also govern all metabolic activities; anabolism (kapha), catabolism (vata), and metabolism (pitta). There can be up to ten different constitutions, depending upon the permutation and combination of vata, pitta, and kapha. The combination of the three humors remains unchanged throughout an individual's lifetime and can indicate a person's inherent strengths and susceptibilities. The combination can also respond to environmental changes such as diet and lifestyle, thereby providing opportunities for the individual to maintain optimal health.

Discover Your Dosha (Vata)

Vata is considered the leader of the three Ayurvedic Principles in the body. Vata governs all movement in the mind and body.

Vata governs all movement in the mind and body. It controls blood flow, elimination of wastes, breathing and the movement of thoughts across the mind. It is very important to keep vata in good balance. The related elements are air and ether.

People of vata constitution tend toward being physically slender and small-framed. Their chests are flat and veins and muscle tendons are visible. The complexion is brown; the skin is cool, rough, dry, and can become cracked. Vata people are generally either taller or shorter than average, with thin frames that reveal prominent joints and bone-ends because of slight muscle development. The hair is curly, the eyelashes are thin, and the eyes matte. The eyes may be sunken, small, dry, and active. The nails are rough and brittle. The shape of the nose is bent and in some cases upturned.

Physiologically, the appetite and digestion are variable. Vata people love sweet, sour, salty tastes, and hot drinks. The production of urine is scant and the feces are dry, hard, and small in quantity. They have a tendency to perspire less than other constitutional types. Their sleep may be disturbed and they will sleep less than the other types. Their hands and feet are often cold.

Psychologically, they are characterized by short memories but quick mental understanding. They will understand something immediately, but may soon forget it. They sometimes lack willpower and are sensitive to tolerance, confidence, or boldness. Their reasoning power may be construed as weak and vata people are often nervous and fearful. Vata people tend to earn money quickly but also to spend it quickly. Thus, they tend to remain poor.

Common characteristics of people who have a predominantly vata constitution:

- · Irregular daily routine
- Variable appetite and digestive efficiency
- High energy in short bursts; tendency to tire easily and to overexert
- · Full of joy and enthusiasm when in balance
- Respond to stress with fear and worry, especially when out of balance
- Tendency to act on impulse
- Often have racing, disjointed thoughts
- Generally have dry skin, dry hair, and don't perspire much

- · Highly imaginative, creative, mental quickness
- Quick to learn and grasp new knowledge, but also quick to forget
- · Sexually easily excitable but quickly satiated
- Slenderness; lightest of the three body types
- · Talk and walk quickly
- Tendency toward cold hands and feet, discomfort in cold climates
- Excitable, lively, fun personality
- · Changeable moods

Functions of vata include:	Locations:	Beneficial foods	Need to avoid	Beneficial exercises
Create energy, endocrine gland function, elimination, and helps to distribute nutrients at a cellular level.	Bladder, colon, thighs, feet, lumbar region and in the skin.	Most nuts, fruits, cooked vegetables, and cultured dairy products.	Broccoli, cauliflower, dry grains, and peas.	Yoga, walking, and slower exercise for a minimum of 30 minutes a day.

Discover Your Dosha (Pitta)

Pitta is a force created by the dynamic interplay of fire and water. These forces represent transformation.

Pitta governs digestion, absorption, assimilation, nutrition, metabolism, body temperature, and skin coloration. It also controls the luster of the eyes, intelligence, and understanding. Psychologically, pitta arouses anger, hate, and jealousy. The small intestine, stomach, sweat glands, blood, fat, eyes, and skin are the seats of pitta. Pitta people are of medium height, are slender and their body frame may be delicate. Their chests are not as flat as those of vata people, and they show a medium prominence of veins and muscle tendons. The bones of pitta are not as prominent as those of the vata individual. Muscle development is moderate.

The pitta complexion may be coppery, yellowish, reddish, or fair. The skin is soft, warm, and less wrinkled than vata skin. The hair is thin, silky, red, or brownish, and there is a tendency toward premature graying of hair and hair loss. The eyes are most often gray, green, or copper brown in color and sharp in focus. The eyeballs will be of medium prominence. The nails are soft. The shape of the pitta's nose is sharp and the tip tends to be reddish.

Physiologically, these people have a strong metabolism and good digestion which results in a strong appetite. The person of pitta constitution usually takes large quantities of food and liquid. Pitta types have a natural craving for sweet, bitter, and astringent tastes and enjoy cold drinks. Their sleep is of medium duration but uninterrupted. They produce a large volume of urine and the feces are yellowish, liquid, soft, and plentiful. There is a tendency toward excessive perspiring. The body temperature may run slightly high, and their hands and feet will tend to be warm. Pitta people do not tolerate sunlight, heat, or hard work well. Psychologically, pitta people have good powers of comprehension; they are very intelligent and sharp and tend to be good orators. They have emotional tendencies toward hate, anger, and jealousy. They are ambitious people who generally like to be leaders. Pitta people appreciate material prosperity and they tend to be moderately well-off financially. They enjoy exhibiting their wealth and luxurious possessions.

Common characteristics of people who have a predominantly pitta constitution:

- · Medium physique, strong, well-built
- Sharp mind, good powers of concentration
- · Orderly, focused
- Assertive, self-confident, and entrepreneurial at their best; aggressive, demanding, pushy when out of balance
- · Competitive, enjoy challenges
- Passionate and romantic; sexually have more
- vigor and endurance than vatas, but less than kaphas • Strong digestion, strong appetite; get irritated if they

- When under stress, pittas become irritated and angry
- Skin fair or reddish, often with freckles; sunburns easily
- Hair usually fine and straight, tending toward blond or red, typically turns gray early.
- Uncomfortable in sun or hot weather; heat makes them tired
- · Others may find them stubborn, pushy, opinionated
- Good public speakers.
- Like to spend money, surround themselves with beautiful objects

Functions of pitta include:	Locations:	Beneficial foods	Need to avoid	Beneficial exercises
Sight, digestion, tem- perature, and appetite.	Lymphatic system, blood, spleen, liver, skin, eyes and the heart.	Most beans, soaked almonds, and vegetables.	Sour fruits, red meat, potatoes, tomatoes, and eggplant.	Combination of rest and cardiovascular exercise is important to a pitta constitu- tion with a minimum of 45 minutes aday.

Discover Your Dosha (Kapha)

Kapha is the conceptual equilibrium of earth and water. Kapha is both structure and lubrication.

One can visualize the kapha life-force as the stirring energy that keeps water and earth from separating. This dosha maintains body resistance. Water is the main constituent of kapha, and this bodily water is responsible physiologically for a natural strength and tissue resistance in the body. Kapha lubricates the joints, provides moisture to the skin, fills the spaces in the body and gives biological strength, vigor, and stability. This dosha also supports memory retention, gives energy to the heart and lungs, and maintains immunity.

Kapha is present in the chest, throat, head, sinuses, nose, mouth, stomach, joints, cytoplasm, plasma, and in the liquid secretions of the body, such as mucus. Psychologically, kapha is responsible for the emotions of attachment, greed, and long-standing envy. It is also expressed in tendencies toward calmness, forgiveness, and love. People of kapha constitution have well-developed bodies. However, they have a stronger tendency to carry excess weight. Their chests are expanded and broad. The veins and tendons of kapha people are not obvious or protruding because of their thick skin. Their muscle development is good and the bones are solid, but not prominent. Their complexions are fair and bright. The skin is soft, lustrous, and oily; while also cold and pale. The hair is thick, dark, soft, and wavy. The eyes are dense and black or blue: the white of the eye is generally very white, large, and attractive.

Physiologically, kapha people have regular appetites. Due to slow digestion, they tend to consume less food in each sitting. They crave pungent, bitter, and astringent flavors. Stools are soft and may be pale in color, while evacuation is slow. Their perspiration is moderate. Sleep is sound and prolonged. There is a strong vital capacity evidenced by good stamina, and kapha people are generally healthy, happy, and peaceful when in balance. Psychologically, they tend to be tolerant, calm, forgiving, and loving. However, kapha also exhibit traits of greed, attachment, envy, and possessiveness. Their comprehension is slow but definite: once they understand something, that knowledge is retained. Kapha people tend to be wealthy. They earn money and are good at holding on to it.

Other body types are a combination and permutation of the dosha present in them. Life is considered a sacred path in Ayurveda. It is a ceaseless interaction between the internal tridosha, the environment and the external environment, or the sum of cosmic forces. To counterbalance external change, an individual must create balance among his or her internal forces by altering diet, lifestyle, and behavior.

Common characteristics of people who have a predominantly kapha constitution:

- · Easygoing, relaxed, slow-paced
- Affectionate and loving, forgiving, compassionate, nonjudgmental nature, stable and reliable; faithful
- Physically strong with a sturdy, heavier build
- Have the most energy of all constitutions, but it is steady and enduring, not explosive
- Slow moving and graceful
- Slow speech, reflecting a deliberate thought process
- Slower to learn, but never forgets; outstanding long-term memory

- · Soft hair and skin; tendency to have "soft" eyes and voice
- Tend toward being overweight; may also suffer from sluggish digestion
- More self-sufficient, need less outward stimulation than other types;
- have a mild, gentle, and essentially undemanding approach to life Sexually, kaphas are the slowest to be aroused, but have the most endurance
- Slow to anger, strive to maintain peace in their surroundings
- Not easily upset and can be a point of stability for others
- Tend to be possessive and hold on to things, people, money; good savers
- Don't like cold, damp weather

Functions of kapha include:	Locations:	Beneficial foods	Need to avoid	Beneficial exercises
Stickiness, potency, heaviness, strength, courage, forgiveness, knowledge, and immunity.	Head, tongue, stomach, joints, heart, chest and neck.	Consume a wide variety of fruits such as bananas, oranges, grapefruits or tanger- ines being taken in moderation.	Dairy products and sugar.	Kapha persons have a tendency towards inactivity but need cardiovascular exer- cise with fast aerobic running. Minimum for one hour.

Digestive Support

Ayurvedic Perspective

Digestion is Key to Good Health

Good health begins and ends with digestion. The digestive fire is called agni. When your agni is in balance, your digestive system is able to do its job. Typically in a healthy person, stomach acid and digestive enzymes help in maintaining the proper functioning of the gut.

In some individuals the disease is found from generation to generation. Therefore, heredity can be a cause of this disease. People who have to stand for hours because of their employment, such as bus conductors, traffic police, postmen or those who have to lift heavy weights - such as porter, laborers, weightlifters, etc., are more likely to suffer from this disease.

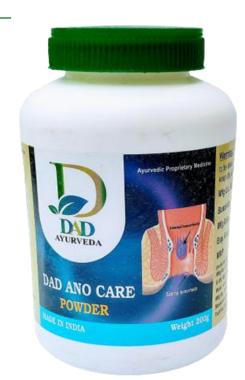

Constipation also gives rise to haemorrhoids, due to constipation, the stool becomes dry and hard due to which its drainage is not easy, the patient has to remain seated in the table for a long time during bowel movement, due to which the blood vessels are stressed. What is prostate (Structure and function)

The prostate gland is found only in men, which is a part of their reproductive system. It is located below the bladder and in front of the rectum. The prostate gland surrounds the urethra, the urethra expels urine from the bladder through the penis. The semen vesicle, which makes the fluid of semen, is located behind the prostate gland. The prostate gland is divided into two parts, right and left.

The size of the prostate gland varies with age. In puberty, there is a rapid increase in the measurement of the prostate gland. In an adult male, the size of the prostate gland is 3 cm. Thick and 4 cm It is wide (equivalent to the size of a walnut) and weighs up to 20 grams, but may be larger in the elderly.

And nourishes and protects sperm cells. It also plays an important role in controlling the flow of urine.

What is prostate cancer: - Prostate cancer is a type of cancer produced in the cells of the prostate. Although many type cells are found in the prostate gland, almost all prostate cancers develop from glandular cells (adenocarcinoma). Other types of prostate cancer are less frequent.

Prostate cancer usually grows very slowly. Symptoms do not appear in most patients until the quasar has reached advanced stage. Most of the prostate cancer patients die from other causes. Many patients are not even aware that they have prostate cancer.

But once prostate cancer develops and starts to spread outward, it becomes dangerous if the diagnosis of prostate cancer is early (when it is confined only to the prostate gland). It occurs.

Prostate gland cancer is second in Delhi, Kolkata, Pune and Thiruvananthapuram, third in casinos in cities such as Bengaluru and Mumbai and in ten major cancers in the rest of India's population-based cancer registries. Statistics show that all areas of India are affected by this cancer.

Prostate cancer incidence rates are increasing at a rapid pace. It is estimated that by 2020 prostate cancer cases will double. Method of use: Mix 5 grams by 20 grams of castor oil and use after dinner at night and drink warm milk from above. Avoiding: Sour things stale food, fried, chili, spices, fast food meat drink (Not: Diarrhea natural)

► Ayurvedic Perspective

Vajikarana for Sexual Health

Vajikarana is the branch of Ayurveda that focuses on properly supporting male sexual health. The primary aim of procreation in every living being is survival of its genes, and this holds true for humans as well. Each individual wants to pass on the best of its qualities to its offspring.

The main aim of vajikarana is successful and healthy reproduction, with sexual pleasure being an additional benefit. Through healthy offspring, it is said to impart the benefits of dharma (religious merit), artha (wealth), yasha (success), and preeti (delight), which are the fourfold achievements of life.

Diet and Your Reproductive Health

A healthy diet is of utmost importance in maintaining optimal health in any area. A diet that is rich in whole grains, a variety of fruits and vegetables, nuts, seeds, and organic meats consumed in moderate quantities is extremely beneficial in supporting healthy hormone levels.

Nuts and seeds are great sources of minerals including zinc, magnesium, and selenium and are an important part of maintaining health. Fats in moderate quantities are essential in supporting overall health as well as supporting a healthy cardiovascular system and optimal brain function. Eating fish (such as salmon, herring, and sardines) and healthy oils (such as ghee and olive oil) support healthy reproductive health.

Having lots of color in the diet (such as a variety of fruits and vegetables) has been shown to provide essential antioxidants for good brain health as well as supporting the body's reproductive system. Mango are a good example of a fruit that promotes male reproductive health.

Consistent exercise is essential to maintaining optimal health in all areas. Many studies have shown the benefits of regular weightbearing exercise on reproductive health in both males and females.

Observation

In the last few years, deaths due to kidney diseases have increased significantly. Despite its potential: People do not understand the symptoms of kidney problems and are able to go to the DR when the problem has increased greatly and the chances of survival are extremely low. In fact, the kidneys do cleansing work in our bodies. These are a very important part of the odor extinguishing system. The blood is clear in both the kidneys. There are millions of small filters in our two kidneys called nephrons. Nerophanes work to clean our blood. Due to this cleansing system in the kidneys, harmful substances are released from our body with urine. Other kidney functions include the formation of red blood cells and the release of beneficial hormones. The hormones released by the kidneys control blood pressure and produce vitamin D, which is essential for bones.

Preventing Unnecessary Inflammation

Inflammation is a very normal, desired effect in the body. To rid itself of illness, the body creates an inflammatory response in situations such as infections, exposure to toxins, ischemia, trauma, and many other conditions. As soon as inflammation has done its work, the body produces anti-inflammatory processes to control the level of inflammation. In a healthy person, this process is in perfect balance. However, when there is an imbalance, the body does not stop producing inflammation.

Excessive inflammation results in conditions such as Diabetic disease, and many others. Inflammation is also a major source of oxidation or free-radical damage, which contributes to the aging process.

Ayurvedic medicine is blessed with an arsenal of herbs to help maintain the proper balance of inflammation in the body.

Lungs Support

Ayurvedic Perspective

In Ayurveda, there is a principle of immunity called beej-land, which means "seed and land." The body is the land, and the infection, or "insects," are the seeds. When your nutrition and lifestyle are not according to your body type, your body is filled with ama, metabolic toxic buildup, and your ojas, immune-supportive sap. When these conditions occur, the infection will find the body fertile ground.

DAD Cough-Care

What causes a chronic cough? Risk factors Complications Outlook Coughing is a routine bodily function, but when it lasts for an extended time, it can get in the way of everyday life and be worrying. A chronic cough can be wet and produce phlegm or dry and tickle the throat.

A chronic cough is when a cough lasts longer than 8 weeks in adults or 4 weeks in children. Common causes include asthma, allergies, gastroesophageal reflux disease (GERD), or bronchitis. Less commonly, it can be a sign of a more severe condition, such as a heart cough or lung disease.

DAD Asthma-Care

Hilarity

Hirsutism is unwanted, male-like hair growth in women. Hirsutism results in very dark, thick hairs on areas of the body where hair usually grows like men. - Face, chest and back.

The amount of hair in your body is largely determined by your genetic make-up. There is a wide range of normal hair distribution, thickness and color due to differences in heredity. However, hirsutism is a medical condition that can arise from more male hormones called androgens, mainly testosterone. It may also be due to a family trait.

The combination of self-care and medical therapy provides treatment for many women with hirsutism.

Symptoms

Hirsutism is hard and dark body hair, visible on the body where women typically do not grow hair on the face, chest and back. What is believed may vary depending on ethnicity and culture.

When extremely high androgen levels cause hirsutism, other symptoms can develop over time, a process known as virilization. Symptoms of virility may include:

Treatment

Treatment for hirsutism often involves a combination of treatment for the underlying disorder, if one, methods of self-care, hair removal therapy and medications.

The medicines

Medications taken for hair loss usually take up to six months, the average life cycle of hair follicles, before you notice a significant difference in hair growth. Medications include:

• Oral contraceptives. Contraceptive or other hormonal contraceptives, which contain estrogen and progestin, treat hirsutism caused by androgen production. Among women who do not want to get pregnant, oral contraception is a common treatment for contraceptives.. Possible side effects include dizziness, nausea, headache and stomach upset.

• Anti-androgens. These types of medicine block androgens from attaching to their receptors in your body. They are prescribed on oral contraceptives sometime after six months if oral contraceptives are not effective enough..

• The most commonly used anti-androgen for treating hirsutism is DAD GARBH CARE1 (DAD GARBH CARE2). Because these medicine can cause birth defects, it's important to use contraception while taking them.

• Topical cream. (Face pack) is a prescription cream for excessive facial hair, especially in women. It is directly applied to the affected area of your face and helps to slow the growth of new hair, and completely gets rid of existing hair. It can be used with DAD therapy to increase response.

For Weight LossHoney is especially helpful for individuals who try to maintain their body weight balance to the maximum level. Warm water is taken after cooling, honey reduces excessive fat deposits in the body, thereby reducing weight. Compared to weight loss products that ultimately harm the body, honey is naturally a 100% safer option.

For Energy & PerformanceCompared to sugar which has only 15 calories, an equal amount of honey has 64 calories. This means, when you consume honey, your body gives more energy to maintain its metabolic functions. Therefore honey has been a reliable alternative to energy in the form of food, especially for athletes. Due to its ergogenic properties, honey contributes to boosting performance in the body, regulating optimal blood sugar, insulin levels, and muscle recurrence.

Honey is known as a rich source of vitamins and minerals.Depending on the source from which honey is obtained, honey contains essential vitamins and minerals including vitamins A, C, iron, and calcium. The intake of honey helps in nourishing the body with essential substances for its proper functioning and development.

As A Natural AntisepticHoney overall properties include antiseptic, antifungal and antibacterial properties. Therefore, in traditional medicine, honey is an important component of the treatment of common bacterial and fungal infections.

Forest bee honey is considered to be the best natural sweetener which has tremendous health benefits, regulating blood sugar levels is one of them. Its regular use treats constipation, cough, colds, and fever. Super bee honey aids in the proper functioning of the digestive system and also helps in reducing weight. It provides energy and strengthens immunity. Stay fit, feel young and enhances athletic performance. Our honey is unheated & 100% pure with no additives, no artificial color, and no added sugar which is why it retains its original nutrients. It helps in improving the texture of your skin and hair.

Improved Digestive Health

In India, it's common for jaggery to be eaten after a meal.

Some people claim it helps with digestion and can stimulate bowel movements, making it a good choice for preventing constipation. Jaggery is a source

No available research confirms this claim. Given the nutrition profile, it seems unlikely that jaggery would help with digestion or prevent constipation. Anemia Prevention

Some studies suggest the iron in non-centrifugal sugars is more easily used by the body than iron from other plant sources.

Jaggery contains around 11 mg of iron per 100 grams, or about 61% of the RDI (2).

This sounds impressive, but it's unlikely that you would eat 100 grams of jaggery in one sitting. A tablespoon or teaspoon represents a more realistic portion.

A tablespoon (20 grams) contains 2.2 mg of iron, or about 12% of the RDI. A teaspoon (7 grams) contains 0.77 mg of iron, or about 4% of the RDI.

For people with low iron intake, jaggery could contribute a small amount of iron — especially when replacing white sugar.

However, you will get much greater amounts of iron from this list of 11 iron-rich foods.

What's more, added sugar is bad for your health. Therefore, it's unreasonable to suggest that you should add jaggery to your diet because it contains iron.

Liver Detoxification

Many foods are claimed to help your liver get rid of toxins. However, your body is capable of removing these toxins on its own.

No current evidence supports the claim that any food or drink can make this "detox" process easier or more efficient.

Improved Immune Function

In India, jaggery is often added to tonics used to treat a variety of ailments.

People believe that the minerals and antioxidants in jaggery can support the immune system and help people recover from illnesses like the common cold and the flu.

Some evidence suggests that oral zinc and vitamin C supplements may reduce the length and severity of a cold, but neither is found in high amounts in jiggery.

Indications: Produces acid to digest food. It is a regular and natural process. The heat energy inside our cells, which produces bile, relieves symptoms like gas, stomach, hyperacidity, heartburn, ulcer which improves digestion.

Gastric ulcers are called lesions on the lining of the digestive system. They are caused by a wound in the stomach or intestine due to an excess of acid. Ulcers mostly occur in the duodenum (the first part of the intestine). The second most common part is the stomach (gastric ulcer). There are several reasons for peptic ulcers:

Helicobacter pylori, a type of bacteria, is the cause of many ulcers. Acids and other juices produced by the stomach can contribute to ulcers by burning the lining of the digestive tract. This happens when the body makes too much acid or the lining of the digestive tract is damaged due to some reason. Physical or emotional stress in a person can increase an already present ulcer. Ulcers can also be caused by continued use of certain medications, such as painkillers. Potential symptoms:

When you eat or drink, you feel better and then after 1 or 2 hours, the situation becomes worse (duodenal ulcer). When you eat or drink, do not feel good (stomach ulcer). Stomach pain that occurs at night. Abdominal weight gain, bloated, burning sensation or mild pain, feeling of unexpected weight gain. Do not smoke Avoid anti-inflammatory drugs. Avoid caffeine and alcohol unless given by a physician. Avoid spicy foods if they cause irritation. Warning signs:

Vomit blood or eat food eaten hours or days ago, or always have nausea or persistent vomiting. Feeling abnormally weak or dizzy. There is blood in the stool (blood can make your stool black or tar-like.) Suddenly severe pain, pain does not go away even after taking medicine and pain reaches back. Weight is continuously decreasing.

Method of use:

Cook it in 1 glass of milk and drink it 2 times a day. Avoid:

Sour things stale food, fried, chili, spices, fast food meat drink

Massage Oils

Massage Oil

Skin, the body's largest organ, needs constant care. The many delicate layers of skin provide essential protection for inner muscles and organs. The refreshing, hydrating herbs in Replenishing Massage Oil[™] work in the skin to promote overall well-being. The formula soothes joints and muscles through massage. Replenishing Massage Oil[™] has properties that refresh the skin, giving it a youthful glow and vitality. For best results, apply Replenishing Massage Oil[™] directly after showering and gently towel dry.

Ingredients: Emblica officinalis, Eclipta alba oil, Centella asiatica, Ocimum sanctum, and sandalwood in a base of bitter-almond oil

Ancient Narayan Massage Oil

Ancient Massage Oil[™] brings together over twenty important Ayurvedic herbs, blended in a sesame oil base, according to a time-tested recipe. This ancient herbal formula produces an extremely nourishing massage oil. Ancient Narayan Massage Oil[™] is especially effective to relieve Vata imbalance, which can cause dry skin, joint pain, and muscle soreness. Used daily, Ancient Narayan Massage Oil[™] helps to soothe tired muscles and joints through massage.

Ingredients: Extracts in a base of sesame oil: Withania somnifera, Sida cordifolia, Aegle marmelos, Solanium nigrum, Solanium indicum, Tribulus terrestris, Vitex nirgundo, Oroxylum indicum, Boerhavia diffusa, Phaseolus mungo, Pluchea lanceolata, Ricinus communis, Cedrus deodara, Sida veronicaefolia, Premma mucronata, Asparagus racemosus, Saussurea lappa, amonum, Santalum album, valerian, Foeniculum vulgare, Desmodium uraria, Teramamus labialis, and Phaseolus trilobus

Breast Massage Oil

The potent herbs in Breast Massage Oil are valuable ingredients which help to cleanse sensitive breast tissue. The breasts are the body's largest lymph glands. To function correctly, lymph glands need regular drainage and detoxification. Breast Massage Oil should be applied regularly to the breasts and gently massaged into the skin in circular motions, moving toward the armpits. For best results, apply the oil every night before bedtime and let it work overnight to soothe and cleanse.

Ingredients: Vitamin E, Jasmine Oil, Palm Lily Leaf, and Pomegranate Oil in a base of Olive Oil

Baby Massage Oil

Massaging your infant regularly can improve your baby's neurological development, strengthen his or her immune system, and promote healthy sleep. Babies who are massaged show increased sensory awareness and improved circulation. Parents and other caregivers have often found that common discomforts such as teething pain, colic, chest / sinus congestion, and even emotional stress can be soothed and eased away during infant massage.

To use Baby Massage Oil, apply lukewarm oil all over your child's body and gently work it into the skin. Baby Massage Oil may be applied at night and left on the skin while your baby sleeps, then washed off in a morning bath.

Ingredients: Bacopa monnieri, Centella asiatica, Ashwagandha, and Sandalwood Oil in a base of Almond Oil

Vata Massage Oil

ProVata Massage Oil[™] is specially formulated to relax the nervous system through massage, while supplying the skin with hydration. ProVata Massage Oil[™] is best used daily after showering. Apply it liberally over the entire body, massaging it in before gently towel drying.

Ingredients: Cinnamon oil, ginger oil, almond oil, and cardamom oil in a base of sesame oil.

Pita Massage Oil

ProPita Massage Oil[™] provides an excellent therapeutic foundation for reestablishing Pitta balance. The oil helps to soothe the mind and body when used with massage and keeps the skin silky and smooth. ProPita Massage Oil[™] is most effective when used daily after showering.

Massage the oil gently into the skin, concentrating on the forehead, scalp and feet. Remove any excess with a towel. ProPita Massage Oil[™] can also be used to promote a sense of well-being through massage. A small amount massaged into the temples or forehead can help to restore feelings of calm and harmony.

Ingredients: Sandalwood oil, neem oil, Eclipta alba oil, and lemongrass oil in a base of coconut and sesame oil

Kapha Massage Oil

ProKapha Massage Oil[™] is designed especially to balance Kapha. Used daily, ProKapha Massage Oil[™] restores vital warmth and energy to the body. Apply ProKapha Massage Oil[™] liberally over the entire body after showering and gently towel-dry.
